BALLINGER INVESTIGATORS CLASH

Democratic and Republican Members of Committee Quarrel for Over an Hour

ATTORNEY RESENTS CHAIRMAN'S CHARGE

Of Concealing Something-Effort Made to Have Chairman Retract was Tabled - Little Hope of Final Unanimous Agreement of Any Sort Owing to Strong Showing of Partisanship

Washington, April 1.—The most seri-cus clash that has yet occurred among the members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committe marked the forenoon sitting teday. The quarrel, forenoon sitting today. The quarrel, which continued for an hour or more, was added evidence of the growing feeling of partisanship between the democratic and the republican members of the committee and was taken by many to mean the hopelessness of a unanimous agreement of any sort.

which continued for an hour or more, was added evidence of the growing feeling of partisanship between the democratic and the republican members of the committee and was taken by any to mean the hopelessness of a unanimous agreement of any sort.

Chairman Precipitated Row.

The row was precipitated by Chairman Nelson accusing Attorney Brandets, representing the "prosecution," of trying to conceal something from the committee. The attorney, fushed with anger, jumped to its feet and demanded that the chairman's remark be withdrawn.

Tabled by Vote of 6 to 3.

The matter finally was disposed of by a motion from Representative Olmstead that the matter be tabled. This was carried by a vote of 6 to 3.

Two witnesses were offered today on behalf of Mr. Ballinger. They were District Attorney Elmer E. Todd of Seattle and United States Marshal H. K. Love of Alaska. Mr. Love was formerly a special agent of the land office. Both of the witnesses declared that statements made by Special Agent H. L. Jones for the "prosecution" were false.

that the chairman's remark be withdrawn.

Democratic members of the committee were quick to take up the defense of the lawyer, and Representative Graham of Illinois moved that the chairman be directed to withdraw the function. Representative James seconded the motion. There followed a general discussion in which every member of the committee gave his personal views. A number of republicans said they did not agree with Senator Nelson that Mr. Brandeis was attempting concealment of any sort, but at the same time they would not vote to compel the chairman to withdraw.

It was argued by Representative Madison, the "insurgent" member, that the chairman in making his remarks the chairman in making his remarks ment."

Charming Affair Held at the Armory

Best of the concerts and grand balls given by the Central Athletic club was its fourth annual, given on Friday evening in the handsomely decorated drill shed at the state armory, where a crowd of from 500 to 600 danced the hours away from 9 o'clock till 1, to the exhilarating music from Miller's orchestra of ten pieces. A concert hour from 8 to 9 opened the evening, during which the orchestra was heard in a finely selected programme, played in finished style. Its feature was the cornet duet, Swiss Boy, by A. W. Jarvis and John M. Swahn. The following was the concert programme: March of the Nations, Waltzes Algeria Overture Stradella, Hunt in the Black Forest and closing with the duet for cornets.

In the abundant and attractive decorations, the color scheme was in the national red, white and blue, carried out in fan shape festoons from the rafters and along the walls, among which twinkled strings of over a thousand electric lights. A big electric star in the national colors, enclosing an electric C in the center and over the star the club initials in electric lights were the electrical features on the front of the elevated orchestra stand. The colors were furnished by the Porteous & Mitchell company and the electrical effects were by the Eaton-Chase company, the whole having been designed and arranged by Jeremiah A. Desmond and Daniel J. Hinchey, with the assistance of the decoration committee, which included also James Foley. James McCarthy, Floyd Gelino and Henry Congdon.

The grand march of fifty couples was nicely executed with many interlacing movements and a concave semicircle formation at both ends of the hall under the direction of Prof. T. Maher. It was capably led by President Thomas Brennan and his partner, Miss Mary Fallon of Westerly, and Vice President P. J. Desmond and his partner, Miss May Desmond. HE WAS AFRAID OF A LITTLE ONE

Some men have faith only in Advertising for its evil influence, not for its true value, as is illustrated by the following story:

A hotel proprietor in a western city argued with the advertising manager of a local newspaper that publicity wouldn't pay him, because his house was not large enough to justify expenditure for large space, and small "ads" wouldn't attract attention. By way of proving that it is not always the size of the space, but what goes into the space, that counts, the newspaper man offered to write five words that would attract attention to the hotel. The proprietor scoffed at the suggestion. The other wrote:

SO-AND-SO HOUSE-FAMOUS FOR BEDBUGS.

The hotel man agreed that the publication of such an "ad" for about seven days would ruin his business, and that the printed word, used even on a small scale, might be made as powerful in building up as it obviously would be if employed in tearing down.

This shows that there cannot be anything said of interest to the people in the smallest type and in the most obscure part of the paper which is not read and talked about. If you would have your advertising pay, always have something to say of too much importance to be forgotten.

Detailed Explanation.

Detailed Explanation.

The statement first takes up the $25,000 check issued to Buckley, which the justice endorsed with Buckley's name and deposited in his own bank account. Buckley owed $37,000 to the North American Trust company which he had borrowed from the international Banking & Trust Co. When the International was taken over by the North American, the loans were called. Mr. Buckley, according to Justice McCall, induced the Phenix to lend $35,000 to him on the collateral held by the North American company. There was a balance due which, with interest, amounted to $2,731. This amount Justice McCall, who was then a practicing lawyer, agreed to advance. As Buckley had to leave town he arranged that McCall should receive the $35,000 from the Phenix and take up the loan. Mr. McCall accordingly deposited the $35,000 check to Buckley's order in his bank, drew his own check for $27,731. bank, drew his own check for $87,781 to the North American company, paid the loan and obtained the securities, which he turned over to the Phenix as security for the new loan of $35.

"My connection with the transac-tion," he says in his statement, "was nothing more nor less than loaning Mr. Buckley the sum of $2.731, under the circumstances stated, and which, I may add, he paid."

(Special to The Bulletin,) Washington, April 1.—The Yale Alumni association of Washington, at a specially called meeting Wednesday afternoon, adopted resolutions on the death of Justice David J. Brewer, Justice Brewer was some years ago president of the Yale Alumni association ident of the Yale Alumni association of Washington, and during his residence in Washington for the past 20 years has taken a deep interest in the association. The Wesleyan Alumni association, where Justice Brewer studied for a time, also adopted resolutions of sympathy.

The death of Justice Brewer has brought forward a great many candidates for the vacant place on the bench of the supreme fourt. Among those most prominently mentioned down here is Lloyd W. Bowers, of Chicago, at present the solicitor general of the department of Justice. Mr. Bowers is a Yale graduate and for a time lived in Connecticut. He and his family visit in the state frequently. A Norwich man in looking over the last grand list and doing some figuring finds out that, with a population in Norwich of 27,500 and the grand list of 1909, the per capita assessment would be $620. Dividing the total amount of taxes collected in 1909, which includes town, city and school, by the estimated population, the per capita tax in Norwich would be $12.

New England is going to make New England is going to make a claim for the place, but as yet no names have been mentioned from that section of the country. Judge Noyes of New London, judge of the circuit court, and Judge Platt of Meriden, of the district court, would be eligible to promotion as it is customary to promote judges from the lower United States courts to the supreme court but no one is pushing their claims, as far as can be ascertained.

but no one is pushing their claims, as far as can be ascertained.

President Taft is likely to make his own selection from his own knowledge, as he did in the case of Justice Lurton, and political influence will have no weight with him. Still, when Justice Lurton was appointed an eastern man ought to have had the place, and now the eastern senators and representatives will present their claims to President Taft, without suggesting any particular person. Judge gesting any particular person. Judge Prentice of Hartford and Judge Beers of Bridgeport, both prominent mem-bers of the Connecticut bar, are here, but disclaimed all intention of doing anything in regard to the appoint-ment.

Found Poison in Prof. Vaughn's Vis

Charles E. Hazelhurst and Samuel Sanderson secured eight on Friday two of which were handsome ones. Henry Allard was out whipping the brooks for trout on Friday and returned with a string of a dozen. He started from here at 7 in the morning and was back about 4 in the afternoon. His best fish weighed about half a pound, but he said that the brooks are so low that it is hard to get at the pools. Columbia, Mo., April 1.—Dr. Paul Schweitzer said in a deposition today that he made three tests of Professor J. T. Vaughn's viscera and in each case found polson. The deposition was given in Justice Stockton's court on a subpoena obtained by an attorney for Mrs. Vaughn, who with Dr. J. R. Hull, is charged with the murder of Professor Vaughn. Dr. Schweitzer said he completed his analysis before Mrs. Vaughn's attorney replivened the viscera. Judge Noyes Eligible.

A Washington despatch says: New England is going to make a claim for the place made vacant by Justice Brewer's death. Judge Noyes of New London, judge of the circuit court, and Judge Platt of Meriden, of the district court, would be eligible to promotion, as it is customary to promote judges from the lower United States courts to the supreme court, but no one is pushing their claims, as far as can be asceptained.
